

Website Terms of Use

Using our Website

Our terms apply to all users of our website.

If you decide to use our services, there are other terms that will apply. You can find them by clicking through to the services part of our website. Or call our sales team.

If you are an investor, we have an area with shareholder information.

The information on this web site is provided in good faith and we do our best to make sure it is accurate and up to date. But we cannot warrant that the information is always correct.

Intellectual Property Rights

All intellectual property rights in this website are owned by or licensed to us. Unless we have consented, you must not use any part of our website in any way. This means, you should not adapt, reproduce, distribute, display, publish or create derivative works from any material from our website.

If you use any of our trade marks in reference to us in any way, please include a statement attributing that trade mark to us. You must not use any of our trade marks as part or whole of your trade mark. It is illegal to use our trade mark in connection with any activities or services unrelated to ours. Or in a manner which may be confusing, misleading or deceptive. Or which disparages us or our services.

Linked Web Sites

This web site may contain links to other web sites. Those links are provided for convenience only and may not remain current or be maintained.

Just because we link to other web sites does not mean we endorse or approve them. Links are not a recommendation by us of the operators of those other web sites. If you link to or visit those web sites, it has to be at your own risk.

If you wish to link to our site, you must get our prior consent.

If you send information to us

You may send us information by posting messages or uploading files to our web site. If you do this, we will use your information appropriately. However, by sending us information, you will grant to us a licence in that information.

The licence will be perpetual, royalty-free, non-exclusive, irrevocable and unrestricted worldwide. It will allow us to use, copy, sublicense, redistribute, adapt, transmit, publish or display that material. The licence will also include a grant of all moral rights in that information.

